

2022 Livestock & Range Symposium: Thinking differently about fencing

Santa Barbara County

November 2nd

6-8:30pm, dinner included

Industrial Eats

181 Industrial Way, Buellton

Ventura County

November 3rd

6-8:30pm, dinner included

Sportsmans

4426 Central Avenue, Camarillo

Join UC Cooperative Extension for a symposium featuring current research and practices regarding ranch and livestock fencing. Speakers and presentation topics will include:

- Wenjing Xu, Ph.D., University of Michigan, Ann Arbor
“The Wires that Shape the World: Fence Ecology and Conservation in Rangelands”
- Elizabeth Reikowski, San Benito County rancher
“Using electric fencing to improve rangeland health and lower operational costs”
- Nathaniel Slinkert, Senior Project Manager, Vence Corp.
“Virtual Fencing for Livestock and Rangeland Management”
- Mike Williams, Los Angeles County rancher
“Stockmanship in Pasture Management”

Cost is $50 pre-registration; $60 at the door (meal included)

To register: <https://surveys.ucanr.edu/survey.cfm?surveynumber=39138>

For more information contact Matthew at (805) 645-1475 or mwkshapero@ucanr.edu.