In 4-H, we believe in the power of all young people. We see that every child has valuable strengths and real influence to improve the world around us. 4-H is open to all youths, regardless of their ability to pay. 4-H is accessible for youths with disabilities. 4-H emergent curriculum meet youths’ curiosity through their individual interests. Youths select from a wide variety of experiential hands-on projects in areas like health, science (STEM), agriculture and civic engagement in a positive environment where they receive guidance from adult mentors and are encouraged to take on proactive leadership roles. Through hands-on learning, youth build not only confidence, creativity and curiosity, but also life skills such as leadership and resiliency to help them thrive today and tomorrow.

“Volunteers make 4-H happen. In 4-H programs, kids and teens complete hands-on projects in areas like health, science, agriculture and civic engagement with volunteer project leaders. The animal and fair project is only one opportunity of over 150 4-H projects to choose from.” said Jean Goulart Community Educational Specialist II. 4-H programs are available for youth ages 9-18. 4-H Cloverbud programs are available for youth ages 5-8. 4-H is delivered by UC Davis Cooperative Extension with our local office at 883 Lakeport Blvd, Lakeport.
